

Revised Manuscript Submission

If authors are requested to revise their manuscripts, they will receive an email with comments from the reviewers and editors. The revised manuscript should be done in “track changes” mode or “highlight the changes” and should address the reviewers’ and editors comments. The revised manuscript should be submitted online through the same portal. The request of revision does not guarantee acceptance of manuscript. Final decision is subject to reassessment.